

This is the run report for run no. 413

Date: 24th June 2001

Hare: Captain Bimbo and Princess of Monaco

Hounds: lots

Where: Maison de l'Etang, Lovescenec

Cor, it was a bloody hot day! Returnees on the train, returnees in the car park, bref, lots of folk showed up in not a lot of time, but nice hash that we are, we waited, and managed to gain both Wady in Lateing and Deep Throat. They did it so subtly that they were not punished for latecoming.

The convoy successfully made it to the run site, then there was a classic hash f*ck-up arranging the parked cars in order of size and not to block out the non hash cars... But we did it!

It was the 1001 nights theme run so we showed up as Arabs. Well the usual spread of effort, going from Likes a Long One's fabulous belly dancing outfit (bought and sewn together the previous day) to these useless people who don't read announcements in the hash trash. Deep Throat and Dracula also Arabed themselves rather well in ghost outfits, while a few more of us contented ourselves with the teatowel-on-head method.

The run started with a lot of uphill so only the bravest ran. In that heat walking was enough effort. However, it was all worthwhile. We soon made it from suburbia into the nice shady forest, where there were umpteen ladies checks among the many hills. Still, few opportunities to get scratched legs (cheers hares).

A beer stop never comes too soon and nor did this one. MaBouche even spotted the beer, but got somebody else to fetch it. Warm beer. Lost hare. Found hare. Lost hare again. OnIn not far. Cool.

Back to the Henderson's soon to be ex-pad for a lovely barbie. Garlic dip in the marquee, circle on the lawn, Captain Bimbo on the ice, hemmaroids too, tearful farewells to our favourite hashing family since the last one, who were they... must have been the Caloris and that was a while back...)
